

- In the Main Street Station there is an antique music box. Pop a quarter in for some music, or check for the short movie machines around the station.

Main Street U.S.A.

- Stop for a break, in the rocking chairs just to the side of The Hall of Presidents in Liberty Square. A great spot out of the sun for "people watching".

Liberty Square

- While visiting Tom Sawyer Island, look for the paintbrush he left behind. Turn it in to a cast member for a special prize. It's rumored to be replaced several times a day.

Frontierland

- Ride Big Thunder Mountain Railroad after dark.

Main Street U.S.A. (cont.)

- Each day on Main Street U.S.A. there is a Flag Retreat (Check your TIMES GUIDE for exact time, generally 5pm or 5:30pm). A veteran is selected for the honor. Check inside City Hall to sign up to be the veteran.

- At Tony's Town Square Restaurant, look for Lady and Tramp's paw prints in front of the stairs that lead up to the restaurant.

- Camera Shop: I love the photo gallery area in the rear of the Kodak Camera shop on Main Street USA. The wooden cut-outs of different Disney cartoons make great photo ops with your kids sticking their own heads through.

- Main Street U.S.A. has all kinds of little details. There are the artists that do the silhouettes, it is a BARGAIN, and you get two copies.

wearing her crown!

- For Cinderella fans, you can see her in her crown anytime you wish. As you enter Fantasyland through the Castle archway, look for the Cinderella fountain on the left. You'll see a painting of Cinderella on the wall with the crown well above her head. Take a drink from the fountain, and at the same you are 'bowing' to the Princess Cinderella. As your head is down, instead of looking at what you're drinking, peek up at Cinderella -- she's now

Fantasyland

- In the Fairytale Garden, see Belle's Storytime. They will pick audience members to play different parts in the story. Check your TIMES GUIDE for exact times and arrive early for a good seat.

Adventureland

- Ride the Jungle Cruise after dark - the CMs are just funnier then!

Main Street U.S.A. (cont.)

- Go to the candy shop on Main Street and pick up the old phone on the wall inside; you can listen in on an old-time phone conversation between a mother and daughter on the party line!

- Celebrating a Birthday? Stop in at City Hall and get a Birthday Button for well wishes all day long.

- The Harmony Barber Shop on Main-street is in the corner of the courtyard next to the gates the parade starts/ends at. In addition to great hair-cuts (men and women, boys and girls) they will do some magic dusting to make your "do" even more magical.

Tomorrowland

- PUSH the Talking Trashcan can often be found wandering around

Brought to you by

Disney's Magic Kingdom

Hidden Gems in

To

Pocket Guide

Tomorrowland (cont.)

Tomorrowland. Also look for talking Trash Cans in Cosmic Rays Starlight Cafe, and while you are there take in Sonny Eclipse's show (the piano player).

- Ride the Tomorrowland Transit Authority at night for an awesome view of the castle all lit up. This is also a great way to get a very small taste of Space Mountain for the little ones.

Other

- Ride the Walt Disney World Railroad around. Try riding in the last car. The conductor will often let a child (or two or three) stand in the back and be guest conductors, helping push the spiel button or saying "all aboard" over the mike. You can board the train at the Main Street Station, in Frontierland and in Mickey's Toontown Fair.

Notes: