1. Spaceship Earth. You travel through time and space, from pre-historic to present to the possible future.

2. If you look at a map of Future World with Spaceship Earth being at the bottom of the map, the part of the park is designed after the human brain. On the right side of the park there is imaginative design being our creative side. On the left side of the park there are more square angles being our balance side. Also in Future World West the buildings are designed to the creation of Earth, the sea being the first then comes land and imagination for the future. The same goes for the height of the buildings, the sea is the shortest, then comes the land and finally the skies the limit.

3. The upside down waterfall is located in front of Journey Into Imagination in the Future World.
